It's no tummy ache

SURPRISE SURPRISE: Catherine Urch (right) did not know she was pregnant when a tummy ache turned out to be labour pains you're in labour!

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A woman who went to hospital with a stomach ache discovered she was seven months pregnant and going into labour.

Former Northampton student Catherine Urch, 22, got through her entire pregnancy without her or her boyfriend, John Parkins, having any idea she was expecting.

Baby Samuel Edgar was born eight weeks prematurely weighing 4lb 9oz.

John, 23, said: "When they showed me Samuel, I couldn't believe what was happening."

"It wasn't until the nurses sat me down next to Cat, who grabbed my hand and said, 'We have a baby,' that I began to realise it was all real.

"I don't really remember what happened next, but we spent the next few days in shock. To be honest I'm not even sure if it's real even now and that we're going to wake up from a strange dream."

Two weeks ago Cat and John, who first met at the University of Northampton, were spending the weekend away in Coombe Abbey.

Over the weekend Cat complained of stomach pains. It soon grew so unbearable that John called for an ambulance which took her to the University Hospital of Coventry and Warwickshire.

While in A&E a doctor examined Cat and said there were three possibilities - it was either acute constipation, a urine infection or the beginnings of an ectopic pregnancy.

Minutes later, Cat's pain worsened and she shouted for a doctor.

The next thing John remembered was being told by a nurse he was a dad, to which John replied: "You're in the wrong room. You must want somebody else!"

Samuel will be kept in hospital for around five weeks for observation.

Miss Urch said: "The nurses at the hospital have been amazing, they've helped us by explaining everything to us as it happens."

"Usually people have months to prepare for a child - we've been thrown in at the deep end."

Potholes in the Budget

Potholes in Northamptonshire were included in the 2014 Budget announced by the Chancellor of the Exchequer today in the House of Commons.

When he was making his Budget speech, George Osborne made a special point of mentioning Northampton North MP Michael Ellis and his pothole campaign.

The Chancellor announced he was making £200m available to councils across the country to fix their pothole problems.

Speaking to the Northants Herald & Post, Mr Ellis said: "I am utterly amazed and chuffed to bits."

"It is not often any town or city gets mentioned in the Budget but today it happened to Northampton."

"The pothole issue is something I have been campaigning about for the past year."

Editor's Letter

What is the most famous document in English history?

Professor Robert Bartlett is not one of those TV friendly academics who used to be in a band and thinks the stars are beautiful, or who dresses up in a suit of armour to make his medieval meditations more accessible.

He is a proper old school, shambling, understated Professor who definitely owns a jacket with patches on the elbows and he knows his stuff about the Plantagenets (Richard the Lionheart and co).

He's got a series that has just started on BBC2 in which, as he was discussing King John, he casually stated that Magna Carta is the most famous document in English history?

Immediately the low hum of my incessant chatter stopped and My One True Love looked up to see if she needed to pretend she had been listening to me.

"Magna Carta the most famous document in English history?" I scoffed, enunciating both questionmarks clearly.

"Course it is," said My One True Love. "I bet no-one's heard of it," I exaggerated confidently.

"Soon sort this out..." she replied and

They were being conscripted as digital mercenaries reached for her phone.

Twitter was going to decide. My One True Love was going to canvass a network of people who probably thought they were being asked their opinion on an open question of educational merit.

Little did they know they were being conscripted as digital mercenaries in a fierce kitchen table battle of truths.

She chortled as the replies started coming in: Magna Carta, Magna Carta...

My take on it was slightly different. Magna Carta is important but is it famous? It was a deal done between murderous barons and murderous King John, historically the first time a monarch was reined in (pun for your money) by his people.

Now the London Tube Map is arguably a document and is instantly recognisable. It's very important and by any definition of the word is famous.

Helen Blaby off the radio thought I was right. Pretty much the rest of Twitter thought I was wrong but who has heard of them anyway... I've got to ask, what's your vote for the most famous document in English history?

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

An owl arrived safely in Northamptonshire after clinging to the front of a speeding train for over 300 miles.

The young bird was found just below the driver's cabin when the train pulled into Stobart freight terminal in Crick, Northamptonshire.

The bird, which was named Lucky by workers at the animal sanctuary he was taken to, spent the entire 325 mile journey from Glasgow perched on the front of the Class 66 Loco which can reach top speeds of over 65mph.

Staff at the train terminal spotted Lucky still clinging onto one of the front pipes once the train had come to a stop.

He was taken to Nuneaton & Warwickshire Wildlife Sanctuary.

Owner Geoff Grewcock, 63, said he was lucky to be alive.

Mr Grewcock said: "He's got slight wing damage and a bit of concussion but he's a very, very lucky owl."

"When I received a phone call saying there was an owl clinging onto one of the pipes on the front of the train I thought it was going to be really seriously injured.

"Because of the distance it's come from and from clinging on the front I thought his wings were going to be snapped all the way back."

"He must have good grip."

A Royal ending for a three year course

REPORTER Lawrence John finds out how students at the University of Northampton are communicating the play Love and Information

To paraphrase Bruce Forsyth, from his days on The Generation Game, 'communication is the name of the game and the students at the University of Northampton want to communicate with you'.

The third year BA (Hons) Acting students have taken on the challenge of appearing in the extraordinary play by Caryl Churchill called Love and Communication.

They will be on stage at The Royal Theatre in Northampton from March 20-22 in this play and a production of George Orwell's Animal Farm.

This dramatisation of Orwell's political allegory is written by Ian Wooldridge and will depict what happens when corruption and greed are met with indifference and ignorance.

Senior lecturer in acting and drama at the University of Northampton, Chris Burdett said of Love and Communication: "It is a play which has more than 100 characters and 100 scenes. It is like a mosaic of modern consciousness.

"We have been teaching an acting degree here at the university for eight years.

"It has been very successful as we have hundreds of applications for only 40 places a year.

"We have a cast of 20 students who are all third year students.

"The play is written by highly acclaimed author Caryl Churchill and is being directed by professional director Jamie Rocha Allan who has worked with the Royal Shakespeare Company.

"It is exhilarating to see something come together.

"When you do a performance there is a lot of actions and something which is fast paced.

"It is great for them to work with a professional director from 1pm to 9pm every day.

"He comes with certain expectations and the students have to raise their standards to meet those.

"They are working together to create something special and it is important to sing from the same hymn sheet.

"This is their first chance to work together as a company even though they have known each other for three years.

"The two biggest things I believe they have learnt from this is professionalism and stamina.

"When an actor is performing they need to exhibit iron discipline.

"This ranges from turning up on time, knowing their lines and have some idea of what the character is all about."

Mr Burdett said the two plays are the culmination of the students' three years at the university and a chance to see actors of the future on stage.

Dr Ross Prior, Associate Professor and Subject Leader for Acting and Drama explained: "The Royal shows are one of the highlights of the year for the programme and demonstrate to both the industry and the public at large the high quality of our trained graduate actors.

"Northampton's actor training programme ranks highly in the sector and this is a wonderful opportunity to enjoy the work of our final year actors in two exciting productions."

Performances of Animal Farm will take place on Thursday, March 20 at 1:30pm, Friday, March 21 at 1:30pm, and Saturday, March 22 at 7:45pm.

Love and Information will take place on Thursday, March 20 at 7:45pm, Friday, March 21 at 7:45pm and Saturday, March 22 at 1:30pm.

Tickets for both productions are available from the Royal & Derngate. These can be bought via the box office, telephone: 01604 624811 or at www.royalandderngate.co.uk Tickets cost £17, £5 discount for concessions and Friends of Derngate.

REHEARSALS: Students prepare for their big nights on the stage at The Royal. They will appear in two plays, Animal Farm and Love and Information

Bridge Street is our crime central

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Bridge Street in Northampton is the third worst crime ridden street in the country and worst in the county for the number of thefts and robberies.

New research commissioned by LV= reveals 1.8m British adults had a bag stolen or fell victim to pickpocketing in 2013, with the majority of UK constabularies reporting the number of personal thefts have increased by 7% since 2012.

Official Police figures obtained through a Freedom of Information request show the number of personal thefts has increased since 2012.

From January 2011 to March 2014, the figures for Northamptonshire Police show there were: 532 incidents in Bridge Street; 100 in Abington Street- 65 in Ladys Lane. The youngest offender caught by police in the county was 10-years-old and the oldest offender was 49-years-old.

Nationally, Pickpocketing, mugging and theft from a person all increased in 2013 compared with 2012 (by 10%, 6% and 5% respectively), while household robbery fell by 8%.

Analysis of Police data reveals the majority of theft from a person happens in broad daylight.

Saturday night when the pubs close is the second most common time with 17% of thefts between 11pm on Saturdays and 2am Sundays.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Lollypop lady vital for school

FUNDRAISERS: Pupils at Blisworth Primary School who took part in the sponsored walk in the playground

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Blisworth School has to raise £2,700 per year to keep its lollypop lady and save children's lives

Three years ago Northamptonshire County Council withdrew funding and it is now the responsibility of the school to find nearly £3,000 per year to allow up to 212 primary school children to be supervised as they cross the very busy A43 High Street in Blisworth.

School governor, Jane Percival said: "Having a lollypop lady saves a child being killed on a very dangerous road.

"It is very busy both at starting time in the morning and at going home time.

"We have to raise the £2,700 to keep the service in place and pay for the insurance.

"We have had a lot of good will and support for the local community.

"We have had individual sponsorship to pay for it.

"It is very difficult to raise money in these days and the parents have been brilliant with their support.

The school want to keep raising money to insure their is enough in the pot for next year.

For them it is an important part of the school day and life.

The school is not allowed to use money it gets from the government or the local authority as this is deemed to be for education.

Last Wednesday, the school organised a sponsored Lollypop walk by the young children around the playground.

The children were sponsored for the completed number of laps of the playground.

NGH aim to buy car parking spaces

Northampton General Hospital is aiming to lease another 100 spaces in Midsummer Meadow car park.

This new approach is being considered as the cost of parking for staff at the hospital will increase next month.

From April 1, staff who park in Midsummer Meadow car park will face a rise of £10 to £15 a month.

For those parking in barriered car parks, it will go from £20 to £30.

The key changes also include plans to lease a further 100 spaces on Midsummer Meadow car park, making a total of 200 spaces to be available to NGH staff permit holders.

The hospital is also planning undertake a more detailed review over the next six months of installing car park decking, creating an extra 200 spaces at the NGH site.

If this goes ahead it will mean out of the 230 spaces at the car park a total of 220 will become reserved parking between 8am - 6pm Monday to Friday.

This will result in only 10 spaces being available to the general public between these times.

A Northampton Borough Council spokesman said: "There are 230 parking spaces in Midsummer Meadow car park, of which 100 are leased commercially to Northampton General Hospital and 20 to another business. These bays are marked as reserved and unavailable for general parking between Monday and Friday, 8am-6pm.

The remaining 110 bays are available for public use. Northampton General Hospital does pay for a further 100 spaces but these are not reserved in that car park, meaning that if there is no space left in Midsummer Meadow, hospital staff have to park in another borough council car park.

We are keeping the situation under review but since this arrangement began on January 1 we have not received any complaints from motorists. There are always spaces every day in the nearby St John's car park."

-What do you think about this?

Do you feel it is a good idea to turn a public car park into a private car park between 8am - 6pm on Monday - Friday when other workers will be unable to use Midsummer Meadow Car Park between these hours on these days.

CAMPAIGNER: Labour's PPC for Northampton north Sally Keeble said news gives window of hope

Extra six months for county refuges

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Funding for domestic violence refuges in the county will continue for another six months. Northamptonshire County Council has extended funding until September 30.

Domestic abuse victims have been risk as women's refuges across the county are under threat of closure.

Some places could close or lose a large share of their funding due to new rules being imposed by Northamptonshire County Council.

The extension comes as a short sigh of relief for Labour's Northampton North PPC and longstanding campaigner on domestic violence, Sally Keeble, who submitted a petition this week signed by over 600 people calling on the county council to safeguard the future of domestic violence refuges.

Ms Keeble said: "This decision from Northamptonshire County Council to continue to fund floating support and accommodation services in the county is a great victory for people power. It will come as a big relief for many vulnerable women that the refuge doors will remain open, and the support will continue for them to rebuild their lives. This gives a window of hope for the refuges and the thousands of women who rely on them."

The news also came after Shadow Home Secretary Yvette Cooper voiced her support in a statement on, describing any cuts to the refuges as 'deeply worrying'.

Mrs Cooper said: "Domestic violence refuges provide an essential lifeline to victims of abuse and it would be deeply concerning if Northamptonshire County Council made the decision to remove all the funding for so many vital specialist services."

"The petition submitted to the Council by Labour's PPC, Sally Keeble, shows the depth of public support for the important work undertaken by refuges across the County. The Home Secretary and Northamptonshire Council should be working together to do everything possible to keep women safe."

Cllr Mary Butcher also welcomed the decision to extend the funding contract for the refuges until September, but insisted the campaign for a more permanent and long term solution will continue.

Cllr Butcher (Lab, Oakley) said: "I am absolutely delighted that the County Council have seen sense, and we have now launched a task and finish group to look at all options as we move forward."

"We need to ensure that there are sufficient refuge spaces available should they be required, and the campaign to raise awareness of what the county council is doing will continue."

In Northamptonshire there are currently 68 refuges places.

On average police are alerted to abuse after a victim has been assaulted or abused around 35 times.

Chalk protest on street

A chalk protest is set to hit the pavements of Abington Street in Northampton town centre next Saturday at noon in a protest against plans to reopen the street to traffic.

The demonstration, set up by protest group Occupy Northampton, could see dozens of people take to the street with chalk to write messages of their rejections to the plans.

This comes after the Herald and Post reported a petition against the plans had gathered over 500 signatures. It has now gathered over 750.

This week also saw the work on removing the Francis Crick statue begin.

It is expected to remain in the town centre.

Bad day for busker

A busker had his entire day's takings stolen from him in Wellingborough as he walked back to his car at the end of a successful day.

After finishing playing, he returned to his car in the Swansgate car park on March 15 between 3.45pm and 4.10pm.

Before he could get into his car, he was approached by a man and a woman.

The man accused him of 'taking his spot' and grabbed the bag containing the money.

The man was black, aged between 25 and 30, slim, and about 6ft.

He was wearing sports clothes and a baseball cap.

The woman was shorter, in her early to mid-twenties and she had a silver piercing on her face.

Delighted with new North Gate bus station

I would like to congratulate the Council and the WNDG on building a most marvellous new bus station.

Although I have a bus pass, I hardly ever used it because the old station was dark, smelly, totally without architectural merit and to enter it was the cultural equivalent of passing the gates of hell.

On the second day of its operation I decided to make a special bus trip to see exactly what it is like, and I was more than delighted with what I saw.

From the passengers' point of view it is very uplifting to the spirit, having a beautiful modern design which is saturated with light from all directions. And it delivers you right into the recognisable heart of the town centre rather than funnelling you through subterranean concrete tunnels to an American-style mall which could be anywhere in the world.

I will now enjoy making much more regular use of my bus pass.

We need to build more flood-resilient housing

As we know, parts of Northampton are subject to flooding.

Floods have been around since Noah sailed away in his Ark. The Sumerians and Babylonians had different versions. In the Aztec version the woman was called Nene, so that our town has a very ancient link with flooding.

There is also a link with King Arthur, for Richard Blackmore in his epic poem on King Arthur refers to "swift Aufona's flood.": Aufona, adopted as a pseudonym by Richard Edmondson, was the Roman name for the town's river.

Building on flood-plains is risky, and settlements were usually built on safe ground. With the industrial revolution houses were built in riskier areas, but houses allowed for the risk, for instance by screwing skirting-boards rather than nailing them, as I understand was done in Far Cotton.

Nowadays we are more savvy with flood-defences but do not seem to build flood-resilient housing. Pit villages were built along the slope. Developers can cram in more houses and build more easily if dwellings are on the level. Houses then suffer from damp problems.

Some politicians accept that flooding will occur conceding that once in 200 years is something we have to live with. Today's population means that 200 is unrealistically high. The council may have gone a long way to address the issue but factors are wide-ranging. The presence of such a vast number of houses greatly reduces natural drainage.

Flood controls could work in Buckton Fields in isolation but we have large developments all round us. The combined effect puts the town at great risk. Are Daventry willing to help pay for the anticipated flood damage?

Diabetes - we can help

It is about a year since the NHS reorganisation and some of your readers with diabetes may be confused by the 'new' NHS and how their diabetes is looked after.

There is now much talk about people taking more responsibility for their own health and this is particularly important for people with diabetes. People have to look after their diabetes everyday, 365 days a year and it has to be managed to the high standard needed to provide the best possible quality of life and good health. Part of this is that everyone with diabetes should have an annual review with their doctor and nine key health checks should be carried out. It is important that people with diabetes know what these checks are so that they can make sure that they are all carried out.

We have a leaflet 'Know Your Rights' to help people with diabetes to know the 9 key checks. It also puts together a range of information which includes knowing their rights as a patient, the standards of care they should expect, what to do if things go wrong and how to effectively manage their appointments or consultations.

We are happy to send your readers this free leaflet and other free publications about diabetes. Readers just need to contact us on 01604 622837, e-mail martin@iddinternational.org or write to IDDT, PO Box 294, Northampton NN1 4XS

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A 33-year-old biker was rushed to hospital with life threatening injuries on Monday following a collision involving four motorcycles and two cars on the A5 near Towcester Racecourse.

A black Mitsubishi L200, being driven by a 50-year-old man, was on the A5 north-bound, waiting to turn right into the racecourse, when a grey Yamaha R6, being ridden by a man, travelling southbound was in collision with it.

At the same time a black Yamaha FZ6, being ridden by a 33-year-old man on the south-bound carriage-way was in collision with a silver Citroen C3, being driven by a woman northbound.

Two other riders, a 28-year-old man riding a yellow Yamaha R6 and a 43-year-old man riding a black Kawasaki ZX600, both came off their bikes as a result of the collisions.

Four further motorcyclists were travelling with the riders who came off their bikes, but were not involved in the collisions.

The 33-year-old man who was riding the black Yamaha FZ6 sustained life-threatening injuries and was taken to University Hospital Coventry by air ambulance.

The riders of the grey Yamaha R6 and yellow Yamaha R6 were also taken to hospital with minor injuries.

The A5 was closed near to the racecourse until around 5.30pm.

ON GOING: Work at Wilby Way roundabout should be finished by June

Will be done by summer

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

The Highways Agency has given motorists assurances work on the £3.5m Wilby Way roundabout improvements will be finished in June.

The work on the A45/A509 Wilby Way roundabout started on September 7 and was meant to have been completed within 21 weeks.

However, in February, a sign appeared on the road from Park Farm saying road-works until June 2014.

The Highways Agency said the delay had been caused by electricity cables and other utility pipes such as water not being in the location they were expected.

When contacted this week by the Northants Herald & Post about the work, a spokesperson for the Highways Agency said: "I have looked into this and all is very much still going to plan at Wilby Way. "Yes, we had initial delays down to weather and electricity cables as you know, but we are still on schedule to complete in June.

Also the earthworks on the roundabout are being constructed in accordance with the original design and are exactly as they should be.

"There is resurfacing work to be carried out on the roundabout itself and on the A45 and A509 near the island - this is likely to start in April and end in May.

"The Agency is as eager as locals and other motorists to see this work completed and is doing everything in its power to ensure it is finished in June as planned."

The work at the roundabout will include the widening of the Eastbound entry on the A45 and the exit on the roundabout.

The A509 entry and exit will also be widening along circulatory route on the roundabout itself.

Other improvements will be to the road surface, drainage, signs and street lighting.

Will this work make a difference to you?

Woman punched six times in face

A woman was repeatedly punched in the face by burglars who broke into her home and tried to steal two of her family's cars.

At about 5pm on Friday, March 14, two men tried to force open the side door of a house in Neale Avenue, Kettering.

They got into the property through the back door. Once inside, they took the keys to two cars.

The men then ran away into Hallwood Road, without the keys.

Pedaling the way to

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northamptonshire will be well and truly put on the cycling map this summer.

In May some of the best female cyclists from across the world will come to the county to take part in The Women's Tour.

One of the cyclists taking part is Hannah Barnes, who lives in Northamptonshire.

She raced for MG Maxifuel Pro Cycling in 2013 and joined America's UnitedHealthcare for 2014.

After hearing the news this tour was taking place in her home county, the 20-year-old tweeted: "Just read the 1st stage of @thewomenstour is starting in my home county. Super exciting and hopefully the girls can put on a good show."

Speaking in more detail about the tour, she said in a video message: "It is going to be a great opportunity to go back home and use the roads I used to ride on last year."

"It's going to be really exciting seeing everyone there to cheer me on and to see all my friends and family who I haven't seen for quite a while."

"This tour is going to be huge for the county and the country and women's cycling. I think people are going to under estimate just how big the event is going to be.

"I am missing everyone at home and I am really grateful that I can come over and say hello and spend my birthday at home with all my friends and family."

The five-day tour starts on Wednesday, May 7, and cyclists will spend the first stage riding from Oundle to Northampton.

From Oundle cyclists will head west through the county taking in Lyveden New Bield and Brigstock, reaching Grafton Underwood then continuing west to Desborough before heading south past the A14, Lamport and Brixworth. They head to Spratton then south to Chapel Brampton, west to Church Brampton, through the Bringtons and then south east towards Duston. They then go south past the M1 before skirting round the southern edge of Northampton and heading into the town centre via Bedford Road, reaching the finishing line on the Derngate.

On the second day they will go through the county again from Hinckley to Bedford, going through Brixworth, Sywell and Wollaston.

40p bet wins Pat big £18k jackpot

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A woman bagged the £18,265.49 jackpot last night at Aspers Casino after placing a 40p bet.

Patricia's win has been claimed by the casino as the largest ever in the UK since the recent government law change, where prize limits were increased.

Patricia won the money on the Fort Knox jackpot; a progressive jackpot which allows for a big prize pool to continuously accumulate as people play the slots.

Players can bet a minimum of just 20p and be in with a chance of winning up to £20,000.

After the win, Patricia said: "I could not believe it!"

She had initially inserted several pounds in the Fort Knox machine, but it was her 40p stake which blown the jackpot.

After the pay out the Fort Knox jackpot went down to £10,000.00 and it's continuously going up, awaiting another winner. The maximum it can go up to is

JACKPOT JOY: Here Patricia receives her big cheque for £18,000

£20,000.00.

The amount won this week at Aspers Casino Northampton has been claimed as 'very likely to be the biggest in the country'.

The biggest jackpot won so far was on March 7, when someone won £18,096 at Aspers Casino in Stratford, London.

General manager of Aspers

Casino in Northampton, David Stratford, said: "We are thrilled to see Patricia win the jackpot."

"The new government law now allows us to offer gamers the exciting chance of winning a higher cash prize, as well as making Aspers Casino the home of the big win."

CHEERS: Team at Phipps Albion brewery in town

Phipps brewery is back and brewing

The Phipps Albion brewery has started brewing its beer again today after a 40 year absence.

Phipps beer will start being distributed from March 31, officially marking its comeback to the town.

Northampton-raised Alaric Neville, managing director of the brewery, said: "This is an emotional day. I feel we have put something back that was missing in the town."

Want to buy a brick from 'Mouth of Hell'?

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

You might be able to buy a brick from Northampton's 'Mouth of Hell' Greyfriars bus station when it is demolished.

Northampton Borough Council is looking into the possibility of allowing people to buy souvenir bricks from the station, which was described as 'The Mouth of Hell' by Channel 4 presenter Kevin McCloud, when it is eventually taken down.

A spokesperson for NBC said: "We understand there could be interest and are seeing what we can do."

This comes after the borough council released a timetable of the station's demolition stages.

From April 7, work will begin to strip asbestos from the building, before the final stripping of internal fixtures and fittings such as power sockets and floor coverings.

On Easter Sunday, the bridges that link Greyfriars to the Grosvenor complex will be removed.

Work to take the Greyfriars building down, brick by brick, will then begin. It is scheduled for completion by the end of 2014.

Join us for our... Gardening Day This Saturday!

HALF CENTURY OF MOTORING SUCCESS

The Shortis Group, Wilco & Fast-Fit's parent company, have been serving motorists for half a century. Here's a potted version of their journey.

When Kevin Shortis opened his first shop 50 years ago he became a pioneer of the discount motor spares industry.

Having started in Norwich, the business expanded throughout East Anglia, and more recently has spread in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire with its single biggest expansion which saw it buy Motosave (Wilco Motosave) based in Leeds in 2004, with 24 stores across Yorkshire and Lincolnshire. The company needed investment and the Shortis Group was able to give it.

It was in March 1964 that Kevin, aged 24, opened his small shop in Barn Road, Norwich. Half a century later, the Shortis Group empire is made up of five divisions of the business stretching from Yorkshire to London.

Mr Shortis, now group chairman and still very much in the driving seat of the hugely successful business with son and managing director Richard, recalled how he rented that first shop for £5 a week from a local timber merchant when Barn Road in Norwich, now a busy part of the city's inner-ring road, was just a cobbled street and passing traffic would make the building shake and shudder.

"We fitted tyres outside in the yard at the back. It was all done with feet and levers and I'll still take anyone on today at changing a tyre manually with my feet," he said with a smile.

"At that time we had retail price maintenance, it was an offence to discount – which we ignored – Champion threatened to take us to court for selling its spark plugs for three shillings and nine pence (19p) instead of five shillings (25p) – a 20% discount.

It made Shortis the first automotive supplier in the area to be offering customers discounted parts.

"People used to have to go to a main dealer to get a part for their car," he recalled.

"The whole thing was a closed shop. There was a tyre trades register which meant you could not buy tyres unless you were on the register and you couldn't get on the register unless you sold tyres. So we used to go and pick up our tyres from someone who was on the register, after hours, and pay cash!

"having found a way around the closed shop, that is why it was so easy. You couldn't do it today like that – everything was in our favour.

"We were the white knight with discount banners challenging tradition just at a time when more people started getting cars and using cars. Well-to-do people had a car that they kept in the garage and went out for a run at weekends and on holiday but went to work on a bicycle."

But discounting could have turned to disaster for Mr Shortis had it not been for his resourcefulness and determination.

"Our supplies were cut off because of that discounting, so one day a week I had to go to Manchester – one of my old haunts – in my Humber Hawk and come back loaded to the gills. I used to go up and back to Manchester in a day, sometimes twice a week, and come back with all this stuff."

Within 12 months of starting the business, Mr Shortis had expanded to the Norfolk coastal town of Great Yarmouth, opening his second shop.

"Then we bought the old Distillery pub on Dereham Road in Norwich, converted it and moved in in February 1966."

By this time K. J. Shortis (Car Spares) Ltd, dubbed the motorists' do-it-yourself shop, was up and running and expanded rapidly with a new shop a year for five years:

- 1967 – Woodbridge Road, Ipswich.
- 1968 – London Road, King's Lynn.
- 1969 – Salhouse Road, Norwich, still head office where Kevin and Richard Shortis are based.
- 1970 – Wisbech.
- 1971 – Boston.

"And then I made the mistake of selling out, and I'll never do it again having seen what big companies do to businesses" said Mr Shortis who sold his business to Quinton Hazell, which made car components and was one of its major suppliers. It was 1971 and Quinton Hazell, which was then still owned and run by Mr Hazell himself, paid Mr Shortis £542,000 – in those days enough money to buy more than 1,000 Mini cars which were around £500 each – for the business and the rights to the Shortis name.

"I took over as managing director of his retail division which consisted of my own stores!

"Over a two-year period we increased it to 50 stores all over the country. Quinton Hazell would go out to dinner and come back and tell me he had agreed to buy someone's stores," explained Mr Shortis.

"It was quite glamorous. The company plane came and picked me up from Norwich airport. One day I went from Norwich to Blackpool, then on to Cardiff, Bournemouth and then Coventry to get the go-ahead to buy two premises. You got an immediate answer from him and I was back in Norwich by 5pm.

"Then the whole lot was gobbled up by Burmah Oil. I was answering to Denis Thatcher – chairman of the Burmah Oil Trading board."

Mr Shortis disagreed with Thatcher on many fronts, but after a disagreement with him about selling motor oil, Mr

Shortis handed in his notice and left.

"I knew what our customers wanted at the time, Duckhams Oil, and Denis Thatcher along with the Burmah Oil board who owned Castrol thought we should sell Castrol Oil.

It was mid 1970s and he was about to start the next chapter of his amazing life and success story, launching Fast-Fit Exhausts in Norwich. He also had opened a DIY Shop in Norwich and a saw mill in Lowestoft.

"Exhausts at that stage were lasting about 12 months and had difficulty lasting the 12-month guarantee." But with Mr Shortis a self confessed "motor man" he concentrated on Fast-Fit, opening another city branch in Norwich and two more at Great Yarmouth and Beccles.

Then he opened the first of what would be his new chain of motorists discount shops in Dereham Road, Norwich, opposite his original Shortis shop. Because he had sold the rights to the Shortis name along with his original business a new name was needed. And so 'Wilco' was born.

He opened two branches, one in King's Lynn and one in Gt. Yarmouth, followed by reacquiring his original Shortis site in Salhouse Road, Norwich. It is still the group's head office as well as being a branch of Wilco Motor Spares and Fast-Fit.

"It was owned by Pirelli. They shut down all the shops in 1986 and sold me the Salhouse Road site and all the stock from its shops. I had moved out of my office there in 1973 and moved back into the same office in 1986, it was just the same, in-fact I'm still in it now!"

He then reacquired three more sites in Norwich, Ipswich and St Neots.

After the success of Fast-Fit and Wilco, exhaust distributor Exhausts Unlimited (now EU Ltd) was bought after going bust in 1980. The product range has expanded to cover the full spectrum of car spares for workshop and garages across East Anglia and East London. With the purchase of Linco Plc in 2000 the company expanded into Lincolnshire.

After buying Motosave (Wilco Motosave) in 2004, managing director Richard Shortis recalls the staff were pretty shell-shocked to find out they had been sold, but on learning the new owners were going to replace the unreliable waste oil-burner with gas heating, and swap white shirts and red clip-on ties with blue polo shirts, they cheered.

With most of the properties bought over the past 10 years and new stores and fitting bays opened in Grimsby and Scunthorpe, Wilco Motosave is a major contributor to the group.

The Shortis Group now has 81 sites from Yorkshire to north London and wilcodirect.co.uk their online business – in the past year it has continued to expand with four branches opening and a move to new premises.

As for the future Richard Shortis said:

"We are always looking for opportunities to expand. To most people we are a small company but, behind the scenes, we are really quite big. Most customers only see their nearest store. We're a big little company!"

Welcome. . .

What's the first thing you should do when you want to move? Sit down. It sounds like I'm talking in riddles but it's really very simple. Sit down with your Herald and Post property supplement and see what's out there.

You'll do a lot of research whether you are buying or selling so make sure you start with the newspaper with the biggest circulation in the county. And in these pages you'll find not just an amazing array of expertise in the businesses that advertise here but some of the nicest people you could hope to meet along the way. Why shouldn't they be? A new home is a big dream for some, a smaller dream for others but when the keys are handed over it's always a dream come true. Good luck with your search, you're starting in the right place...

NOT ALL ESTATE AGENTS ARE THE SAME!

Millers have been working in this way since being established in 1989 and year by year the service just gets better as our experience continues to grow. We pride ourselves not only on our ability to sell properties at the best price for the customer, but also on our level of customer care.

BUT DON'T JUST TAKE OUR WORD

CUSTOMER REVIEWS*

Bittern Street
Northampton
NN49DL

Dear Mr Miller,

I just wanted to drop you a quick email to say how impressed I was with the service provided by Millers to my husband and I during the sale of our house in West Hunsbury towards the end of last year.

Although we'd obviously bought the property four years ago, it was the first time that we were faced with selling a property. Plus the fact that it was a shared ownership property made it a rather daunting prospect. We began by getting a few quotes from other agents in Northampton. Not only were some of them more expensive but they also didn't initially provide the customer service that we were after.

The fact that Millers had already sold properties down our road was a big bonus for us - showing that those SOLD signs are good for advertising!

Not only that, Carl provided a first class service from the start of the process when he visited our home and talked us through the process. We felt we could be open and honest with him and he talked us through everything we needed to know.

So when Carl sold our home on the first ten minute viewing, we were amazed!

Sadly, we ended up losing the initial buyer several weeks later which was obviously a worry to us having already paid upfront fees to buy our next house.

Carl reassured us that he would do everything he could do find us another buyer. The house went back on the market that night and 48 hours later it was sold again.

Carl went through a lot of stress and worked so hard to make sure he secured another buyer for us and kept us in the loop every step of the way.

Even when the solicitors went quiet, Carl continued to keep us informed about everything that was happening which was a huge relief during a very stressful time in the run up to completion.

If I'm being completely honest I found the selling and buying of a property pretty stressful whilst trying to hold down a busy job and in the run up to Christmas, but Carl made it that bit less stressful which is what you need from an estate agent.

So thank you to Carl and everyone at Millers for doing a fantastic job. I will recommend the company to anyone that asks and I hope you go on to please many more buyers across Northampton.

Kind regards,
AliceB

MOTORING PASSION RUNS IN FAMILY FROM EARLY DAYS

'I have oil running through my veins rather than blood'

Kevin Shortis was destined to go into the automotive industry from an early age. In fact some people have even wondered if it is oil for blood that runs through his veins. Even after he had set up his first motoring spare parts discount shop.

"for a long time my parents used to ask when I was going to get a proper job".

He explained how he had gone to school but engines, motorcycles and cars played a big part of his life even though it was positively discouraged by the headmaster.

"I was continually in trouble for mechanical reasons. I have a school report in which the headmaster says 'I trust the internal combustion engine will not lead to his downfall before it becomes his career.'"

It was that headmaster who gave Mr Shortis senior a final warning for riding a motorcycle. He would have got away with it had it not been for the car driver who knocked him off asking the school how he was.

"I told matron and then this bloke came round to see if I was all right and I got caught out. I got a beating for riding a motorbike and given a final warning.

"Luckily, that headmaster left at the end of that school year and, when the new headmaster also caught me again, I managed to persuade my parents that if they didn't let me leave I would undoubtedly be expelled," he explained with a broad smile.

"Cars played a big part in my life, even in the early days, and even though we did not have one at home... I blame Mr Hitler.

"My brother's school was evacuated to Worcestershire from Kent.

Worcestershire was good Austin territory and the local garage up the road had all the cars in storage for the duration of the war. I used to go to the local garage and the covers were taken off once a month and the cars turned over, put into gear and all the pedals pressed to get the oil round. I used to turn the wheel and sit inside. I was four or five at the time and in my mini boiler-suit.

"I can remember still the smell of the old leather. I used to press the pedals and put them into gear. Cars have led me from the wartime years, right the way through school, which were banned and got me into trouble – I have oil running through my veins rather than blood. To this day I still love Austins, I have an Austin Newbury which still keeps me busy!"

Son Richard, now managing director of the Shortis Group, also got off to a very early start in the business. He was just two weeks old when his father opened his discount motor spares shop in Salhouse Road, Norwich, for the first time. Although Richard didn't know much about it at the time, the shop was officially opened by Miss Anglia.

Richard joined the business full time in 1987, having worked in the shops.

Can, you go back 50 Years.

As part of the group's 50th anniversary Wilco and Wilco Motosave will be celebrating with the production of special limited edition retro oil cans.

The cans are replicas of those sold in 'Shortis' car spares and accessories stores in the 1960's.

The special cans, which contain Wilco's modern 10w-40 oil, are manufactured in the UK by Comma Oil and will be available in Wilco shops. Managing Director of Wilco, Richard Shortis, was at the plant to watch the first cans roll off the production line.

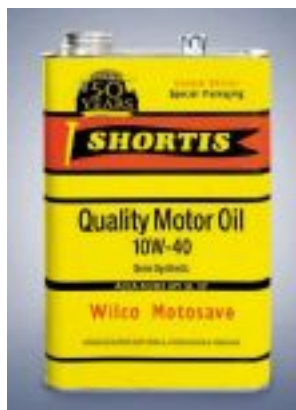

"It was an idea I had some time ago which, with Comma, we've made reality, the cans look great and are a real throwback to a bygone era" said Mr. Shortis.

Wilco have been in partnership with Comma Oil, who are will be celebrating their 50th anniversary next year, since the 1970s.

Pictured, Richard Shortis, Left, Right one of the New 'Old' Oil Cans.

Why Wilco?

When Kevin Shortis moved back into the discount motor spares business he had to start from scratch with a new name for his first shop but it was a idea that literally took off.

"I had to come up with a new name because I had sold the right to the Shortis name to Quinton Hazell. We wanted a two-syllable name like Kodak or Esso," said Kevin Shortis.

"At the time I was learning to fly and, having been given an instruction, the popular thing to say was 'Wilco' which was short for 'will comply' and I thought it was ideal – we will comply with your request."

Our Staff are the cream of the crop

When it comes to staff relations it was a case of having it licked.

Managing director Richard Shortis had gone to Scunthorpe to help move the branch between 4pm and 10pm on a hot Sunday. All the staff had volunteered to help make the move go smoothly when an ice-cream van turned up.

Chairman Kevin Shortis says with a grin: "I was horrified to find an ice-cream van had turned up on the site and Richard spend £62 on ice-creams for all the staff.

"Seriously though, we have a fabulous crew. We ask quite a lot from them – we are open seven days a week on the main on the retail side but they stay with us." Last year the company offered staff members £50 per year of service – totalling over £170,000 across the group.

SHORTIS SHORTS

Accessories from the past

Modern cars are loaded with accessories, in the 1960s and 70s however, all of the below were aftermarket options. More 'experienced' readers may remember stick 'on bullet holes, leopard print seat covers and more!!

- Reflectors – now a legal requirement.
- Seat belts.
- Windscreen washer kits.
- Rear lights – formerly only one was necessary.
- Clip-on parking lights.
- Flashing indicator sets – two or four lamps.
- Head-rests.
- Stick-on heated rear windows.
- Heaters.
- Double dipping headlamps and headlamp converters.
- Wing mirrors, door mirrors and 'boomerang' mirrors. An ordinary mirror was seven shillings and 11 pence (39p) while the 'boomerang' mirror, which sprung back into position, was 19/11d (99p). Many cars had only one door or wing mirror and people also upgraded standard mirrors to boomerang ones.
- Carpet sets – many cars had only rubber ones.
- Centre consoles and centre armrests.
- Bolt-on boot spoilers.
- Cigarette lighters.
- Wind deflectors for side windows.
- Vinyl roof kits.
- Fog and spotlights.
- Wheel trims.
- Rear visors.
- Car radios and then cassette players and CD players.
- Car alarms.

Open all hours

February 1966, internet shopping is around 40 years away, and 24 hour supermarkets a pipe-dream.

When moving one of his first branches Kevin Shortis remembered a very odd sale.

"I didn't like the thought of losing a day trading while we moved so we shut down on the Saturday night at close of business and all the crew came and moved shop overnight."

At 3am, with the rest of the world asleep, in walked a chap from the street as if it were his lunch break.

"Do you have a battery for a Ford Anglia?". I said 'Yes' and he asked 'How much?'.

"Four pounds, 19 shillings and sixpence" I replied and he asked if we could fit it and we said we could," Mr Shortis recalled.

"He bought it, said 'Thank you very much' and drove off at three in the morning with people carrying the stock all around his ears. It was just incredible."

Pressing matters

Local newspaper advertising in more than 40 titles has played a big part in the Shortis Group's half a century of success.

Founder and chairman Kevin Shortis said:

"Local papers have always been a major part of our strategy. We started advertising with the Eastern Daily Press in 1964 and have continued ever since. "I am a firm believer in local paper advertising... absolutely.

"It works for us and has always worked for us."

In one of the first newspapers adverts for K.J. Shortis, right, you can clearly see the emphasis on value for the motorist with remould tyres for 48 shillings (£2.40) – 'less than trade price' – a 12.5% discount on new tyres and 'the cheapest spares in Norwich'.

lawrencejohn@hpnorthants.co.uk

Following from the success of A Tale Of Two Cities and The Body Of An American, Royal & Derngate's Made In Northampton 2014 season continues with the world premiere of Every Last Trick, a bold new adaptation by Tamsin Oglesby of a classic Feydeau farce.

Directed by Paul Hunter, this ingenious look at the game of infidelity and marriage takes to Northampton's Royal stage from Friday, April 18 to Saturday, May 10, uniting the comic talents of members of leading theatre companies Spymonkey and Told By An Idiot.

Based on Georges Feydeau's Le Systeme Ribadier, first staged in 1892, the setting has been updated to the 1920s, where a charming politician and his glamorous new wife evoke a picture of marital bliss. Her first husband was a liar and a cheat. Her second is a different batch of chromosomes altogether.

Not only is he chairman of the Feminist Forum but he clearly adores her. He says so, repeatedly, usually on Thursday nights when he goes out to 'stretch his legs'. Her suspicions are obviously hormonal.

But when he resorts to illusion to maintain the delusion, well, there's a lot of confusion.

If experience has taught her anything it's the need to fight fire with fire, lies with more lies and every last trick with pure magic...

Every Last Trick can be seen from Friday, April 18 to Saturday, May 10, with evening performances at 7.45pm (7pm on Tuesday, April 22) and matinees most Thursdays and Saturdays at 2.30pm. Tickets priced from £29 to £10 can be booked by calling Box Office on 01604 624811 or online at www.royaland-derngate.co.uk

Review: Fallen Angels

Milton Keynes Theatre until Saturday, March 22, 2014, then touring

IT may not have the sparkling dialogue, the barbed wit or the ingenious construction of some of his more famous works, but Noel Coward's frothy 1925 diversion Fallen Angels has enough entertainment value to draw in the audiences on this popular tour. The fact that it features Jenny Seagrove and Sara Crowe as best friends Julia and Jane may have something to do with it, and it's clear their rapport is at the heart of the show's success. When an old mutual lover threatens to return, endangering the ladies' safe but stale marriages, the friendship is tested and tortured amid copious amounts of champagne and cocktails.

There's plenty of period fun to be had - all played out on a stunning set designed by Paul Farnsworth - and the comedy gets much broader and unsubtle than perhaps even Coward anticipated.

The Volvo V40 Cross Country might just be the coolest looking hatch on sale in the UK. It's eye-catching, well engineered, well equipped and the prices aren't exorbitant either. There's just one downside; only the priciest petrol model is all-wheel drive.

However, the ride height has been raised by 40mm to 173mm which means that speed humps and non-dropped kerbs aren't such an issue. Volvo has also gamely fitted Hill Descent Control to the T5 AWD version, which controls the car's speed automatically when driving down steep inclines. This model really is the only one to really warrant the Cross Country branding and with a 254bhp engine to power it, the T5 has the power to really entertain. Even if you're not big on off-roading, it makes an awesome all-weather vehicle that will shrug off the worst of the British winter.

Levi back as Bird changes contract

South African opening batsman Richard Levi has agreed to return to Northamptonshire to play limited over cricket in the new season.

Levi will play all 14 NatWest T20 Blast games and eight Royal London One-Day Cup fixtures for the county.

During the winning Friends Life T20 campaign in 2013, Levi scored 360 runs at an average of 32.7, including a match winning 110 not out against Gloucestershire, which was the highest score in the tournament.

Northants Cricket Chief Executive David Smith said: "Richard made a big impression last summer in T20 cricket, with match winning innings at Cheltenham, Worcester and in the semi-final match against Essex.

"He gives us the necessary fire power in the first six overs that are so vital to posting a competitive score in T20 cricket."

Meanwhile, Australian test bowler Jackson Bird has signed a revised contract that will see him play in the first six LV= County Championship matches only and no white ball cricket.

Bird's revised contract has been agreed with Cricket Australia and allows Jackson to play cricket, manage his work load and have pre-season in Australia in July and August.

"Jackson's original contract was for ten LV= County Championship and seven NatWest T20 Blast matches," added Smith. "The reduced schedule will see the club try and secure a second overseas bowler, for a further six LVCC games.

"Our aim is to find someone that will be able to play in both the NatWest T20 Blast and LV= County Championship. David Ripley is currently drawing up a shortlist of potential overseas players."

Northants have been preparing for the new season in Barbados following promotion to Division One of the County Championship and the Friends Life success last time out, but they were hit by a blow when vice captain Alex Wakeley was forced to return home from the Caribbean with an achilles injury.

He will see a specialist in London to get a full diagnosis of the extent of the injury and has been working with club physiotherapist Barry Goudriaan.

The county are currently playing a two day game in Barbados against Warwickshire, after finishing as runners up in a T20 tournament to start their tour.

An eight wicket victory over West Indies Universities – the game in which Wakeley was injured – came before a narrow three run defeat to fellow tourists Nottinghamshire in the final. They fell short on 104-7 in reply to Notts' 107-3.

Saints aim to make it home sweet home in big encounters

SAINTS

BY DAN PALMER
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Jim Mallinder believes that Sunday's LV= Cup final defeat to Exeter highlights the importance of earning home semi-finals as Saints gun for the remaining two pieces of silverware on offer.

Exeter's Sandy Park was selected as host of this year's final, giving the Chiefs home advantage in the supposedly 'neutral' clash, and the Devon club took full advantage of the familiar conditions as they engineered a superb 15-8 success.

Chiefs crossed the whitewash twice through Chris Whitehead and Dean Mumm – coupled with a Henry Slade penalty and conversion – while Northampton only had a Glenn Dickson penalty and a Samu Manoa try to show for their efforts.

Roared on by loud support, Exeter were full value for the win – and the first major trophy in the club's 143 year history – thanks to some fantastic slick rugby which was backed up by a skillfully marshalled rearguard.

Northampton Director of Rugby Mallinder said that claiming the LV= Cup, which Saints last cap-tered in 2010, was always going to be a 'big ask' on Exeter's soil.

However, his men still lead the Aviva Premiership – where a top two finish is required for a home semi-final in the play-offs – and they will also earn a Franklin's Gardens last four berth in the Amlin Challenge Cup should they win their quarter final at Sale.

This could be crucial for Saints as Exeter ably demonstrated.

"They [Exeter] played well," said Mallinder after the game.

"It was always going to be tough coming down here.

"We needed to play well and be at our best and unfortunately on this occasion we weren't.

"With their crowd getting behind the team it was always going to be a big ask but we've got plenty to play for.

"The Premiership becomes very important, it always has been very important to be honest.

"We need to make sure that we crack on and keep winning games and try and get this home semi final because they become very important as we've seen today."

Mallinder still took positives from a competition which has seen them field several youngsters with bigger names away on international duty. With the Six Nations now at an end though, Saints will be back to full strength for the all-important final third of the year.

"We're disappointed to lose the final, everyone wants to come and win finals," said Mallinder.

"But [the LV=] has been good for us. We've blooded lots of young players and combine that with playing time for other players, it's been good.

"We've got more battles to fight this year and we'll look forward to those. I think during this period we've won seven out of eight games while the international players have been away, so when you lose such a number I think that's a pretty good return.

"We'd have probably accepted that before they went.

"We've done well without them but it's very nice to have them coming back.

"That's going to add to the mix and make us stronger for the run in."

Skier Turney doesn't rule out medal bid in Pyeongchang

WINTER PARALYMPICS

Anna Turney insists the Sochi 2014 Winter Paralympics were the pinnacle of her ski-racing career despite the fact she left Russia without a medal after finishing eighth in her final race.

The 34-year-old from Northampton did well to recover from a slip during her first run in the sit ski giant slalom finale in order to even post a time, and then made amends with an excellent second run.

Her combined time of 3:20.76 minutes was good enough for eighth – her third top-ten finish of the week after coming fourth in the super-G and sixth in the slalom.

And after her final race of her second Winter

Paralympics, Turney admitted while the results haven't gone her way she thoroughly enjoyed her time in Russia.

"It is kind of a good way to finish as at least I have put down a good run. I had nothing to lose, I set out to go for it and go mental," she said.

"I pulled it back with my second run and I was very close to seventh, just a few tenths off, so that was a bit annoying.

"I knew I had shanked it in the first run but I managed to get my head back together and ski a good run second time around, it was a bit ragged but it was quite fast.

"The results haven't really gone my way and at times I was unlucky but it was very disappointing to crash in the downhill when I was in line for a medal and then again in the super-G to just miss out.

"I made mistakes but I went all out and the Games are really the pinnacle of my career so far so I guess all I could do was go for it.

"It didn't go my way but it has been an incredible experience and it is amazing that it has been so widely broadcast and the public is interested, it is wonderful."

Turney, now a sit-skiing veteran of two Winter Paralympics after competing in Vancouver in 2010 and now Sochi, wasn't sure what the future after the Games held for her on the slopes.

But she admitted the prospect of going to Pyeongchang in four years time in search of an elusive medal is something she would love to do. What we do is pretty extreme and it is amazing to have the support from back home," she added.

"I have been working towards this for years now so for the meantime I am just going to go home and see my husband but we will see if I continue.

"It would be amazing to go again in four years time but I don't know if that is possible or not."

Great Britain won one gold, three silvers and two bronzes during a successful games for the country in Sochi.

Rochdale drubbing needs to be forgotten quickly

COBBLERS

BY DAN PALMER
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

Chris Wilder says that his Cobblers team will need to recover quickly after Northampton Town's six match unbeaten streak was brought to a shuddering halt by Rochdale on Tuesday.

Wilder has masterminded a mini-revival in recent weeks but the 3-0 defeat to 'Dale at Sixfields came after a dismal performance and prompted boos from some sections of the home support.

It was a stark reminder that the Cobblers are still in deep trouble within the League Two relegation zone, where they remain three points from a safe position.

If there is one saving grace it is that the gap they have to claw back did not widen because of the defeat to a Rochdale side who went top of the pile with their victory.

"We've not been beat by a team in and around us so it's not a double whammy situation which obviously benefits us," said Cobblers boss Wilder.

"In terms of league position we're still in and around it.

"But I don't like losing and putting in a performance like that.

"It's disappointing as we didn't lay a glove on them.

"I was asked if it was them being really good or us being poor and I think both.

"We got off to a really poor start, we never pressed the ball at all, we never closed any of the gaps, we never made contact with them.

"It really was a long, long night for us."

Cobblers have nine games left to secure their safety and there is no time for reflection with another Saturday-Tuesday combo on the agenda.

They will first travel to Morecambe – thumped 5-1 at Accrington Stanley midweek – before hosting AFC Wimbledon on Tuesday.

"I said to the players afterwards that psychologically we have to get over this pretty quickly," said Wilder.

"There was no ranting and raving, I had a pop on Tuesday at half time [during the 1-0 win at Exeter] but there wasn't really anything last night.

"Players sometimes have to go home and think about their own performances, did they do enough?

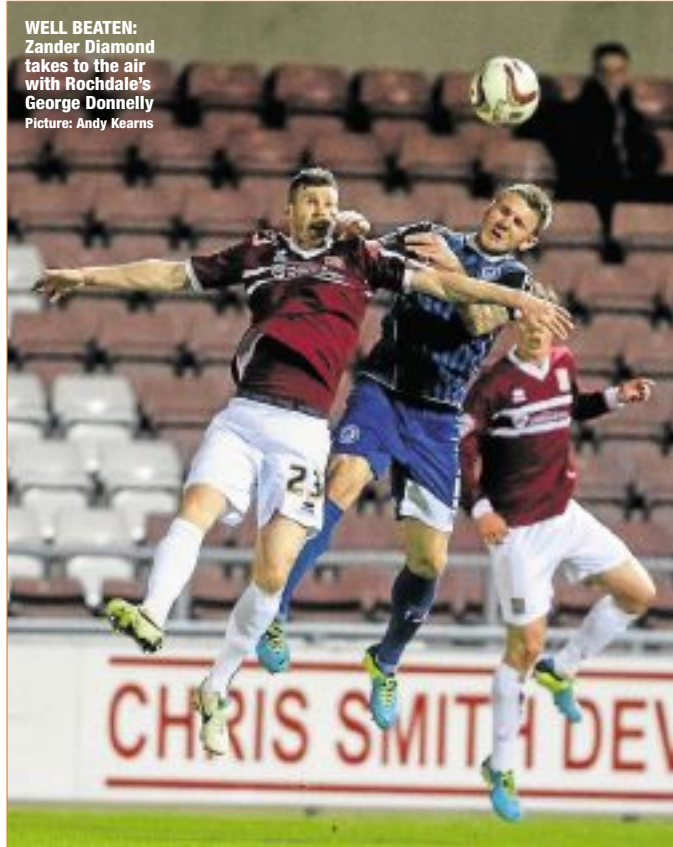

"I'm not going to batter them, they had been excellent.

"We don't have time to dissect the performance, we have to move on quickly."

Morecambe's hammering could make them dangerous opponents but the Cobblers too will want to bounce back.

"You'll think they will want to show a reaction just as much as we will," said Wilder.

Win for Connors

BOXING

Thirteen-year-old Johnny Connors of Far Cotton ABC enjoyed a unanimous decision victory over Richard Hughes in Newdigate.

Connors was a late entry into the bout as Hughes' original opponent was unavailable, with Far Cotton coach John Daly wasting no time in putting his competitor in after receiving an 11th hour phone call.

Twin win for Cray

SAILING

Day two of the Sunday Spring Series at Hallowell Sailing Club produced another exciting day's racing.

The morning race was essentially a battle between Simon Cray in his Laser, Mike and Helen Playle in their Wayfarer and Ian Clark, another Laser sailor. However, it was Cray who eventually took the victory.

Race two was almost a re-run of the first, with the same three boats battling it out for the top slots. Once again Cray took pole position, while Clark snuck second ahead of the Playle-duo.

The final race was won by the Playles.

Comment: Vast improvements needed at Morecambe

COBBLERS

Columnist and Cobblers fan Tom Reed gives his thoughts on Northampton's 1-1 draw with Mansfield and 3-0 defeat to Rochdale. You can read more of his 'Gripped by the Cobblers' columns online at www.northampton-news-hp.co.uk/sport.

BY TOM REED

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

A Cobblers fan asked for advice on an internet forum before the Mansfield match on taking two American teenagers along.

He needn't have briefed the U.S. youngsters on jargon such as the "long ball game" or doing a "job" on the opposition as they'd have had their fill watching Paul Cox's Stags.

Indeed, the Nottinghamshire side came to Sixfields with a toe-curlingly frustrating game-plan which was all the more irritating because it worked.

Cox will say that he set out for a win but, given his players played for time after five minutes, one assumes that a draw was a favourable result for the away team.

Mansfield striker Ollie Palmer calls himself Lord on Twitter but the nearest he got to being a landed gentleman was sniffing the Sixfields pitch after repeated theatrical responses to workaday challenges.

The tetchy home support booed the Stags for their gamesmanship and the Northampton fans' mood worsened on thirty-two minutes when Palmer was given a free route on goal.

The one thing that Palmer has is strength and the gangly forward was able to ease Mathias Doumbe off of a hit-and-hope Adam Murray ball before slotting past Matt Duke.

Frenchman Doumbe had veered round the box like a drunken wasp while Duke was back to the old routine of going down like an old, exhausted, greyhound.

No doubt about it, the Cobblers were "Boothroyded" with Mansfield continually looking for the ball over the top to Palmer and Rhead.

Yet the Stags forward pair dug in up front and showed the best of limited abilities with their hold-up play.

The Cobblers, conversely, could not make first-time balls stick, as Emile Sinclair had an off-day and Northampton were too keen to force an equaliser in this relegation clash.

Yet on sixty-four minutes Northampton managed to break down a frenzied Mansfield defence when Darryl Westlake hand-balled on the line.

Chris Hackett did a trademark step-over before sending a right footed cross to Alan Connell who headed down before Westlake's arm intervened.

Basketball fan Darren Carter swept home the resultant penalty with a swish whilst Westlake got a red card for stopping a certain goal.

But the Cobblers couldn't capitalise on the extra man, failing to take a touch when needed.

The home fans, too, were anxious whilst the 700 away fans backed their team with a wall of sound which, in a show of true support had little connection with what was happening on the pitch.

The Stags played the occasion better with bouncing balls forward on a hard pitch being picked up by runners in behind.

Anthony Howell could have tested both the Northampton goal and home fans' constitutions when firing into the side netting on seventy-five minutes.

Then, with five minutes remaining, Connell found space to send over a delicious cross for an unmarked Hackett.

But the right winger decided to volley first-time with the ball heading into orbit.

The match ended 1-1 and the success of the Stags' job on the Cobblers was proven by the bitter insults of the home fans who had tasted the sourest of League 2 draws.

Hopefully the U.S. visitors were back over the Atlantic in time for the following Tuesday's match with Rochdale as the Cobblers put in an abject performance in the 3-0 defeat.

Northampton have two sides at present: the first one tries to hurry the ball towards the isolated Sinclair at every opportunity, squandering possession whilst the other plays patient football in order to shift opponents out of position.

It was the former who turned up against Rochdale with the game effectively over after five minutes when Ian Henderson slotted home the opener.

The inclusion of Emile Sinclair offers an "out ball" forward, in much the same way that the Cobblers used to look long for Akinfenwa when under any pressure.

Sinclair is no Bayo in the hold-up business and lazy balls forward failed to expose any 'Dale weaknesses.

The Cobblers' flaws were however obvious with Carter simply not impacting on proceedings, Ravenhill chasing shadows and Duke suspect to balls struck low and hard to his side.

Northampton employ a performance analyst to go over match videos but the tape from this latest game should go straight in the bin.

Chris Wilder's side have failed to score in over an hour of play against teams with ten men after Matty Lund was dismissed for Rochdale.

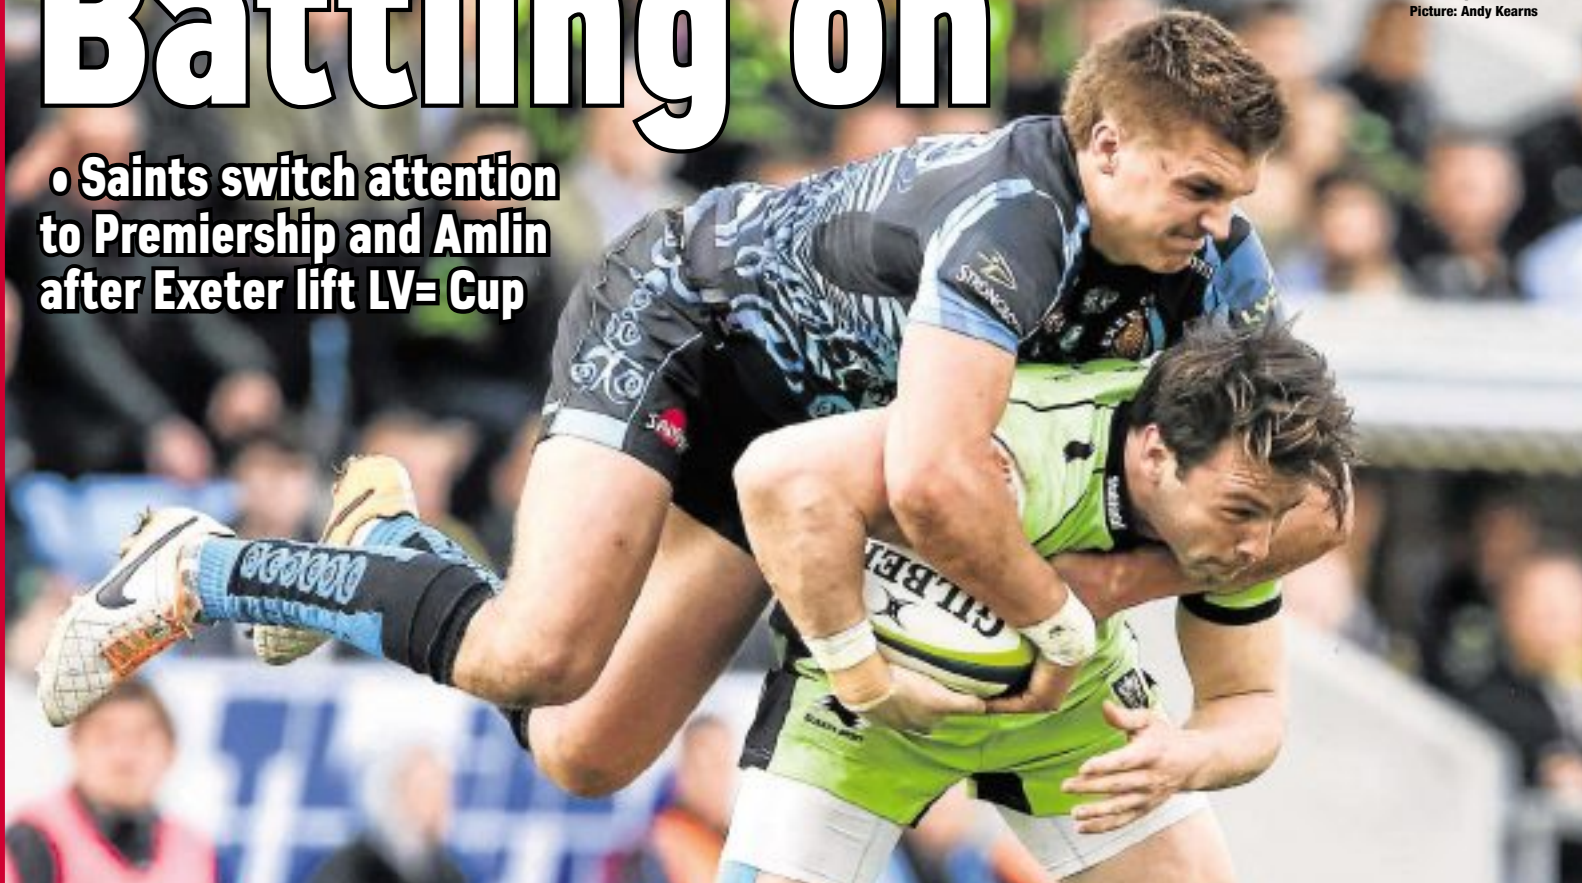

They'll have to put in a vastly improved performance in their next match at Morecambe with Torquay just two points behind and a three-point gap to the safety zone remaining.

• Saints switch attention to Premiership and Amlin after Exeter lift LV= Cup

BEATEN: Saints' Ben Foden has a passenger in the LV= Cup final Picture: Andy Kearns

Northampton Saints' hopes of a domestic double were ended as they lost 15-8 to Exeter Chiefs in the LV= Cup final on Sunday – but Director of Rugby Jim Mallinder is already eyeing the remaining prizes on offer this season. The Premiership leaders also have an Amlin Challenge Cup quarter final to look forward to and with their international stars now returning, they are heading into a key period of rugby. Mallinder has particularly stressed the importance of earning home advantage for pivotal matches after Exeter made full use of the LV= final being held at their Sandy Park home. Chiefs were excellent in front of partisan supporters with Saints having no answer to their performance as the first silverware of the season went begging.

"We're disappointed to lose the final, everyone wants to come and win finals," said Mallinder. "But we've got more battles to fight this year and we'll look forward to those."
